Army Intelligence Defectors Named

The CIA identified the two European-born GIs mentioned in the Warren Commission report as having defected from U. S. Army intelligence units in West Germany in 1960 as Vladimir Sloboda and Joseph Dutkany. Sloboda a native of the Ukraine, was reported living in Lvov and making anti-U. S. broadcasts and writing propaganda articles that appear in Soviet newspapers. The other man, who was born in Poland, was said to have died after working for a time in a television factory. The CIA said both men had prior Russian secret police connections and were said to have defected after security checks.
